FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Date: November 16, 2018
Tokyo, Japan

FUJI TELEVISION'S "HACHITAMA" SPHERICAL OBSERVATION ROOM TO EXTEND ITS NIGHT-TIME OPENING HOURS FOR A LIMITED PERIOD, BETWEEN SATURDAY, DEC. 22ND, 2018 THROUGH TO SUNDAY, JAN. 6TH, 2019, FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 10 YEARS

Fuji Television Network Inc. (Head Office: Minato-ku, Tokyo, President and Representative Director, Masaki Miyauchi, hereinafter "Fuji Television"), will be extending the opening hours of the "HACHITAMA" Spherical Observation Room with an additional two more hours at night. For a limited period, from Saturday, Dec. 22nd 2018 through to Sunday, Jan. 6th, 2019, it will be open every day from 10:00 until 20:00, giving visitors the opportunity to experience an expanded perspective of Odaiba's beautiful night-time landscape. Offering a spectacular 270-degree panoramic view out over the Tokyo Bay area, the spacious 123-meter-high spherical observation deck commands a mesmerizing view of Rainbow Bridge, the Tokyo Tower, the Tokyo Skytree and even Mount Fuji on a fine day.

Ever since its opening hours were shortened from 20:00 to 18:00 on Mar. 30th, 2008, many visitors have been eager to once again experience the picturesque views from the observation room. But for the first time in 10 years, the observation deck will once again be open until 20:00 for a limited period. And, whilst the Odaiba area lightens up with some dazzling Christmas illuminations during the winter season, this will be a perfect opportunity to witness one of the most extravagant firework displays in Odaiba, also known as the "Odaiba Rainbow Fireworks 2018." Including visitors from all over Japan, it is going to be a wonderful occasion for guests from around the world to be amazed with one of Tokyo's most breathtaking night entertainments. This will also make apparent many of the infinite possibilities of inbound marketing in Japan.
